

Advanced Design Semester 1 Exam
Mr. McCray

Write a paragraph on your semester in advanced design. Please address the following in your paragraph. How do you measure your learning from the first semester? How would you characterize your learning? (Simple, complex, hectic, confusing, boring, enlightening, dark, fun, freeing) What is the most important piece of information from the semester that will stick with you for a while? Did you learn a new computer technique or technical tool that you find particularly useful? What did you discover about your personal design style?

Think about the tone of your paragraph and how it may reflect the character of your answers. Feel free to be expressive. The more character you give the writing, the more it will lend itself to a successful exam piece. Try to create a window into the world of your design process. Your paragraph does not have to be a word for word response and you do not have to answer every question. Be creative!
